Process for Submitting Residential and Commercial Driveway Permits

“New Business

- a. . . . The OSRD will get commercial and residential driveway forms available on the website that would also be submittable online. Motion: Michael Bloom made a motion outlining the process for OSRD residential and commercial driveway permits indicating property owners will fill out and submit the driveway permit to OSRD. Then, an OSRD foreman will contact them and physically review the site. If the foreman decides that there needs to be engineering completed and reviewed for the requested driveway, they will notify the property owner and OSRD’s contracted engineering firm (GRE) at that time. Regardless of whether engineering is needed and before the occupancy permit is issued, final approval will be contingent on review of the plans by GRE and OSRD. Chris Somers made second. Approved.”
